Opening message tips

- There's no subject line for Conversation Ads. Like any other LinkedIn message, the first sentence will appear as the subject. Make your first sentence count — our audience will see this in their LinkedIn Messaging.
- As the individual sender, use the opening message to introduce yourself and let members know why you're reaching out. Consider including your name, title, and the company you represent.

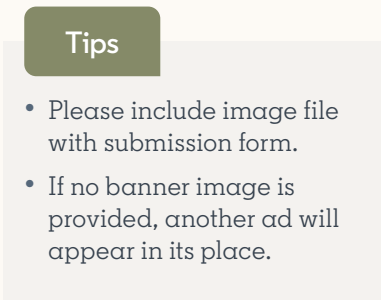

Call-to-actions tips

- Use multiple messages and buttons. Your conversation should have 2 to 5 layers: each layer consisting of message text and at least 2 CTA buttons as optional replies to the question in your message. For instance, if your goal is to drive content downloads, share two pieces of content that your audience can choose from.
- Don't include "Not Interested" or "No Thanks" CTAs — especially in the first layer of your conversation. (Prospects who aren't interested will close the ad.) Instead, use CTAs that help continue the conversation.
- Ask your email marketing team for ideas and to understand what works best for them. Use their top performing email copy as inspiration for your Conversation Ad.
- Get creative. Conversation Ads can be used in a variety of ways. Don't be afraid to experiment.

Message Ads tips

- Press “Alt” + “Return” together to move to the next line.
- Remember that you give value to get value. Focus your message on how the member can benefit from your product/service.
- Tailor your message to members so it's relevant to them.
- Include a clear call-to-action and align it to the context of your message.
- Keep the tone conversational and genuine.
- Include one clickable link in the message body to help yield a higher CTR on mobile.
- New Create a custom message by adding one or more custom fields (macros). For example, adding the “%FIRSTNAME%,” “%LASTNAME%,” “%COMPANYNAME%,” “%JOBTITLE%,” and “%INDUSTRY%” macros will dynamically insert the recipient's first name, last name, company name, job title, and industry.
